Parents take your responsibility help your children to build a "sense of purpose" by guiding them to choose appropriate careers with a purpose and to keep track of your child's career progress.

This system provides you with all the information and guidance needed to assess your child's progress.

We appreciate the importance of parents engaging with children to have an understanding to what your children are aiming to achieve in life. Parent involvement motivates children and inspires them for a better future. A high level of parental involvement is crucial in giving children proper direction. The higher the degree of parental involvement, the higher the impact on the child's career achievement.

Parent involvement helps to extend teaching outside the classroom, creating a positive experience for children helping them to make informed decisions when making career choices. This is essential for parents in order to support learning in school settings and at home, this also helps to carry self-assessment on the development of their children's performance

Overview

Assessment days are designed to support Module structure company under study program. On assessment day we Interconnect students with companies, universities, employers, organizations and research institutes as a way to make it easier to both students and employers to identify suitable students or vice versa. Considering that every student has to understudy at list one company per year this is a great opportunity for students to make informed decisions on their career choices. An assessment day is a day of tests and activities that allow recruiters to assess your abilities and to see whether you have the skills to qualify on their organizational programs. And vice versa the students will be identifying companies that can offer satisfaction to their career choices.

Description:

Introduction to degree course was developed in response to high dropout and failure rates of university students. The program fully supports successful progression of students from high school to undergraduate study and beyond. This course introduces students to a degree, giving students a frame work and direction in their area of study. We are well aware that if students fail to understand the foundation of the subject they are likely to lose interest in the subject that is why this course was designed to make it easier for students. The course is equipped with most of the learning materials required by students to understand their degree program.

This course was developed in consultation with universities at global. The course is designed to give students a deeper knowledge and understanding of the degree. The
